A USDA Document

ABRIDGED LIST OF FEDERAL LAWS APPLICABLE TO AGRICULTURE

(Including Reference to Former Functions)

(December 7, 1796: George Washington in his last message to Congress recommended the use of public funds in aid of agriculture and the establishment of boards to collect and diffuse agricultural information. January 11, 1797: A committee of the House of Representatives recommended the establishment of a national agricultural board or society. The House established a committee on agriculture in 1820 and the Senate one in 1825. In 1828 Congress authorized the publication of a manual, prepared by Richard Rush, Secretary of the Treasury, and containing the best available information on the culture and manufacture of silk, and also of Count Von Hazzi's Treatise on the Rearing of Silk-Worms.)

March 3, 1839: Congress authorized the Commissioner of Patents to expend the sum of $1,000 for the collection of agricultural statistics and for other agricultural purposes. (5 Stat. 354.)

May 15, 1862: A law establishing a Department of Agriculture under a commissioner, the general design and duties of which were to acquire and to diffuse among the people of the U. S. useful information on subjects connected with agriculture, in the most general and comprehensive sense of that word, and to procure, propagate, and distribute among the people new and valuable seeds and plants. (12 Stat. 387.)

July 2, 1862: The first Morrill Land-Grant College Act, granting (origin of grants-in-aid) to each of the States an amount of public land equal to 30,000 acres for each Senator and Representative it had in Congress, or the equivalent in land script, proceeds from the sale of which were to be used for the endowment, support, and maintenance of at least one college where the leading subjects would be branches of learning related to agriculture and the mechanic arts

August 30, 1890: The second Morrill Land-Grant College Act providing further endowments for more precisely specified educational purposes, and also authorizing the establishment of colleges for Negroes in States or Territories where a distinction of race and color is made in the admission of students. March 4, 1907: The so-called Nelson Amendment appropriating $25,000 to colleges of agriculture and mechanic arts with the provision that a portion of the funds might be used for the training of teachers of elementary agriculture. (7 U.S.C. 301-08, 321-28.)

June 16, 1880: The first provision for Congressional seed distribution appeared in the Appropriation Act of June 16, 1880 (21 Stat. 294), making appropriations for the fiscal year 1881. Appropriations for the purchase, etc., and distribution of valuable seeds, bulbs, etc., with provisions for allotment of an equal proportion thereof to Senators, Representatives, and Delegates to Congress for distribution among their constituents, provisions of these successive acts varying in details from year to year, were made annually in the agricultural appropriation acts up to and including the fiscal year 1923. The provisions of the fiscal year 1923 may be found in the Act of May 11, 1922 (42 Stat. 516.) Congressional distribution of seeds, etc., was discontinued in the Appropriation Act for the fiscal year 1924 (42 Stat. 1289.) It will be noted that seed distribution is provided for in the Organic Act establishing the Department of Agriculture. This act provides that the design and duties of the Department of Agriculture shall be to acquire and to diffuse among the people useful information on agriculture and to procure, propagate, and distribute new and valuable seeds and plants, and that the Secretary of Agriculture shall collect new and valuable seeds and plants, shall test and propagate them, and shall distribute them among agriculturists. Act of May 15, 1862 (12 Stat. 387.) This law still remains in effect (5 U.S.C. 511, 514.)

May 29, 1884: An act establishing the Bureau of Animal Industry intended to prevent the spread of contagious, infectious, and communicable diseases of domestic animals and live poultry. (7 U.S.C. 391.)

May 29, 1884: An act intended to prevent the exportation of diseased cattle. (21 U.S.C. 113.)

August 30, 1890: An act to suspend the importation of all or any class of livestock for a limited time when necessary to protect animals in the U.S. from infectious or contagious diseases and to set up quarantines of imported animals when need arises; the act also provided for the inspection of animals imported and those intended for export. (21 U.S.C. 101-07.)

February 2, 1903: An act authorizing regulation of the exportation and transportation of livestock, from any place in the U.S. where the Secretary of Agriculture has reason to believe communicable livestock diseases exist, to any other State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, or to foreign countries; and authorizing the Secretary to take such measures as he may deem proper to prevent the introduction into, or the dissemination within, the U.S. of communicable diseases of animals. (21 U.S.C. 112, 113, 120, 121.)

February 28, 1947: An act authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to cooperate with the Government of Mexico in the control and eradication of foot-and-mouth disease and rinderpest. (21 U.S.C. 114b, 114c, 114d.)

April 24, 1948: This Act amended the Act of May 29, 1884, by adding that the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to establish research laboratories, including the acquisition of necessary land, buildings, or facilities, and also the making of research contracts under the authority contained in section 10(a) of the Bankhead-Jones Act of 1935, as amended by the Research and Marketing Act of 1946, for research and study, in the U.S. or elsewhere, of foot-and-mouth disease and other animal diseases which in the opinion of the Secretary constitute a threat to the livestock industry of the U.S. (21 U.S.C. 113a.)** (See March 3, 1905, page 4.)

March 2, 1887: The Hatch Agricultural Experiment Stations Act, authorizing the establishment, under the direction of the land-grant colleges, of stations in the several States to conduct experiments relating to agricultural subjects, these stations forming departments of the land-grant colleges.

March 16, 1906: The Adams Act for the same general purposes as the Hatch Act, but emphasizing original researches or experiments; no part of the Adams Act <sup>funds</sup> can be used for printing and only 5 percent for buildings or purchase of land.

February 24, 1925: The Purnell Act provided a total of $60,000 to each State; emphasizing economic and social research and permitting expenditure of 10 percent for buildings and land; also providing for printing.

June 29, 1935: The Bankhead-Jones Law providing for a government allotment of $5,000,000 for agricultural research, 60 percent of which is allotted to the State experiment stations; and 40 percent to the Secretary of Agriculture; funds allotted to the States in an amount which bears the same ratio to the total amount to be allotted as the rural population of the State bears to the rural population . . . of all States. To receive these funds each State must show an expenditure from State funds of equal amounts for agricultural investigation. These funds are to be used for "research into laws and principles underlying basic problems of agriculture in its broadest aspects." June 20, 1936: Extension of the benefits of Adams, Purnell, and Capper-Ketcham acts to the Territory of Alaska. August 28, 1937: An act to extend the benefits of Section 21 of the Bankhead-Jones Act to Puerto Rico. (7 U.S.C. 362, 363, 365, 368, 377-79.)

February 9, 1889: The law making the USDA an executive department under supervision and control of a Secretary of Agriculture to be appointed by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. (5 U.S.C. 512.)

October 1, 1890: An act transferring the meteorological work then carried on by the Army Signal Corps to the Department of Agriculture, and creating the Weather Bureau. (15 U.S.C. 311.) April 11, 1940: Reorganization Plan IV transferred the Weather Bureau to the Department of Commerce, but authorized the Department of Agriculture to continue to make snow surveys and conduct research on (a) relationships between weather and crops, (b) long-range weather forecasting, and (c) relationships between weather and soil erosion.

March 3, 1891: An act authorizing the President to reserve public lands as forest reserves (now called National Forests.) (16 U.S.C. 471 and 473.) June 4, 1897: An act containing the principal provisions governing the administration of all National Forests and authorizing the promulgation of rules and regulations and the establishment of service necessary in regulating their occupancy and use. (16 U.S.C. 471, 475-482, and 551.) February 1, 1905: An act placing such reservations under the administrative jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture. (16 U.S.C. 472.) March 1, 1911: An act creating the National Forest Reservation Commission and authorizing the acquisition, with the Commission's approval, of lands on the watersheds of navigable streams needed in regulating the flow of such streams or for the production of timber; also authorizing cooperation with States in protecting from fire private and State forest lands located on the watersheds of navigable waters. (16 U.S.C. 480, 500, 513-519; 521, 552, and 563.)

March 20, 1922: Authorized exchange of National Forest land or timber for private land within exterior boundaries of National Forests. (16 U.S.C. 485.)

May 22, 1928: An organic act authorizing all phases of forest and related research and the establishment of regional forest experiment stations. (16 U.S.C. 581-581i.) June 9, 1930: An act providing for expanded tree-planting operations on the National Forests. (16 U.S.C. 576-576b.) August 29, 1935:

This act authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into cooperative agreements with State officials to acquire State forest lands. (16 U.S.C. 567a.)

May 18, 1937: The Cooperative Farm Forestry Act provided for cooperation of the Secretary of Agriculture with the land-grant colleges and universities and State forestry agencies in the development of farm forestry in States and Territories. (16 U.S.C. 568b.) June 25, 1949: Amended section generally by increasing amounts authorized to be appropriated. (16 U.S.C. 581h.)

March 2, 1897: An act, as amended, to control the importation of tea inferior to established standards and setting up a board of experts to prepare and submit to the Secretary of Agriculture standard samples of tea. The provisions of this act were carried out by the Food and Drug Administration which was transferred from the Department of Agriculture to the Federal Security Administration by Reorganization Plan IV. (21 U.S.C. 41-50.)

May 9, 1902: The adulterated and renovated butter act, regulating the manufacture of these products under special taxes and providing inspection of establishments under authority of the Secretary of Agriculture, and the promulgation by him of such regulations as might be required. (26 U.S.C. 2320-26.) June 24, 1946: This act authorized the Secretary of Agriculture, through inspectors appointed by him, to inspect all milk, butter, butter oil, and other ingredients and facilities intended for use in the manufacture or process<sup>ing</sup> of renovated butter, and to condemn all materials found unfit for human consumption. (26 U.S.C. 2325.)

June 3, 1902: An act which made the Divisions of Soils, Forestry, and Chemistry into bureaus and combined the Divisions of Botany, Pomology, Vegetable Physiology and Pathology, Agrostology, and Experimental Gardens and Grounds into the Bureau of Plant Industry. (5 U.S.C. 524.)

March 3, 1905: The Insect Pest Act, as amended, forbidding interstate transportation of enumerated insect pests via any means, except for scientific purposes under such rules and regulations as are promulgated by the Secretary of Agriculture. (7 U.S.C. 141-148.) January 31, 1942: The Mexican Border Act providing for the regulation by this Department of entries from Mexico of railway cars and other vehicles, baggage, and other materials which might carry insect pests and plant diseases, and for inspection, cleaning, and disinfection of such vehicles and materials, and requiring fees to be charged which will cover service costs as nearly as may be. (7 U.S.C. 149.) September 21, 1944: An act which authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to take such measures either independently or in cooperation with other agencies for the control and eradication of insect pests and plant diseases. (7 U.S.C. 147a.) June 17, 1949: This act amend<sup>ed</sup> the Act of 1944 by broadening the scope of control. (7 U.S.C. 147a(a).)

March 3, 1905: An act empowering the Secretary of Agriculture to quarantine any State or Territory or the District of Columbia when he determines that livestock therein are affected with any communicable disease, and prohibiting the movement of livestock therefrom except upon compliance with regulations prescribed by him. (21 U.S.C. 123-124.)

June 29, 1906: The Twenty-eight Hour Law, providing for care of animals in transit, regulating interstate transportation of animals, confinement, unloading for rest, water, and feeding. (45 U.S.C. 71-74.)

IV transferred the Food and Drug Administration to the Federal Security Agency, except the functions relating to the Insecticide Act and the Naval Stores Act, which were administered by the Agricultural Marketing Service.

March 4, 1907: The Meat Inspection Act authorizing the examination of animals, meat, meat-food products, used in interstate or foreign commerce, and inspection of slaughter and packing establishments, and regulating exportation of livestock. (21 U.S.C. 71-96.)

May 23, 1908: Dairy Products Exports Act which promotes commerce with foreign countries in connection with dairy products by preventing the exportation of such products unless the same have been inspected and certified. (21 U.S.C. 94a.)

May 23, 1908: Provided that 25 percent of all moneys received by the national forests shall be paid to the States or Territories for the benefit of public schools and public roads of the counties in which the National Forests are situated. (35 Stat. 260.)

April 26, 1910: The Insecticide Act, prohibiting the sale or transportation in interstate commerce of adulterated or misbranded insecticides and fungicides and providing for seizure of same. (7 U.S.C. 121-134.) June 25, 1947: Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act. This act regulates the marketing of economic poisons and devices. It makes it unlawful to distribute, sell, or deliver in the U. S., or its Territories, or foreign countries, certain economic poisons, and makes provisions for the registration of such poisons. The Secretary of Agriculture was authorized to make rules and regulations for carrying out the provisions of the bill, and the bill provided for penalties of fine and imprisonment for violations thereof. It also provided for seizure of such economic poisons, whether domestic or imported, and also exclusion of those imported. The provisions of the bill took effect upon enactment, except those pertaining to rodenticides and herbicides, 6 months after enactment, and as to insecticides and fungicides and other economic poisons, one year after enactment. This act repealed, one year after enactment, the Insecticide Act of 1910, approved April 26, 1910. (7 U.S.C. 135-135h.)

August 3, 1912: An act establishing a standard barrel for apples followed, August 31, 1916, by the Standard Container Act of 1916 (15 U.S.C. 251-56), establishing standards for climax baskets, and one establishing standards for hampers and round-stave baskets. May 21, 1928, The Standard Container Act of 1928 (15 U.S.C. 257a-257i) with regulations for enforcement within reasonable tolerances.

August 20, 1912: The Plant Quarantine Act, regulating importation and interstate shipment of plants, plant products, and other commodities to prevent introduction into and spread within the U. S. of injurious plant diseases and insect pests, and establishing the Federal Horticultural Board. (7 U.S.C. 151-167.)

July 31, 1947: Amended Plant Quarantine Act of 1912 by adding new proviso to Sec. 1 which authorizes Secretary to limit the entry of nursery stock from foreign countries and, when necessary, require that it be grown under post-entry quarantine to determine whether it is infested or infected with plant pests not discernable at port of entry inspection, and if found to be infested or infected to prescribe remedial measures deemed necessary to prevent spread of plant pests. (7 U.S.C. 154.)

March 4, 1913: An act to prevent preparation and sale in any place under the jurisdiction of the U.S. of worthless or harmful viruses, serums, toxins, and analogous products for domestic animals, or importation or interstate shipment of same. Secretary is authorized to regulate preparation of such products for sale in the District of Columbia, Territories, or other places under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government, and for interstate shipment. (21 U.S.C. 151-58.)

May 8, 1914: The Agricultural Extension or Smith-Lever Act providing for co-operative work with land-grant colleges in giving instruction and practical demonstrations in agriculture and home economics to persons not in attendance; also for imparting such information through field demonstrations, publications, and otherwise, whereupon farm management and farmers' cooperative demonstration work carried on by the Bureau of Plant Industry was discontinued. The Federal Government appropriated funds to carry out the purposes of the act which had to be matched by equal sums appropriated by legislature of States in question, or provided by the State, county, college, local authority, or individual contributions from within each State for maintenance of work; Federal funds granted to the States in the proportion which the rural population of each State bore to the total population of all the States. May 22, 1928: The Capper-Ketcham Act, providing funds for agricultural extension work, required that at least 80 percent of all appropriations under this act totaling $17,280,000 be utilized for payment of salaries of extension agents in counties and, for the first time, recognized junior work with boys and girls. June 29, 1935: Section 21 of the Bankhead-Jones Act of 1935, providing an ultimate final appropriation of $12,000,000 annually to be allotted to the several States under the same terms and conditions as Smith-Lever Act of May 8, 1914, except that $980,000 shall be paid to the several States and Hawaii in equal shares, and the remainder to the States in proportion that the farm population of each bears to the total population of the several States--no offset of State money required. June 20, 1936: Extension of Capper-Ketcham Act to Territory of Hawaii (7 U.S.C. 341-8, 386c). June 6, 1945: An act amending Bankhead-Jones Act of June 29, 1935, by providing for further development of agricultural extension work as contemplated by the Smith-Lever Act of May 8, 1914, through provision of additional sums, $4,500,000 for the fiscal year 1946, $8,500,000 for 1947, and $12,500,000 for 1948, and the years thereafter, and providing that $500,000 of the sum appropriated for each fiscal year is to be available for special allotment. (7 U.S.C. 343c, 343d-i.)

June 30, 1914: A law establishing the Bureau of Crop Estimates, later, by law of March 3, 1921, the Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, later still combined with the Office of Farm Management and Farm Economics to become the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, established by law of May 11, 1922. (7 U.S.C. 411.)

June 11, 1916: An act authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into cooperative agreements with the several States, Territories, or counties for the survey, construction, and maintenance of roads and trails within or partly within National Forests and appropriating $1,000,000 for each fiscal year to and including June 30, 1926, in all $10,000,000 to be available until expended for this purpose. (39 Stat. 358.)

June 17, 1916: The Federal Farm Loan Act set up Federal Land Banks to provide farmers with a source of federally supervised cooperative credit by making long-term loans to farmers who use their farms as security, and creating the Federal Farm Loan Board, and the Federal Farm Loan Bureau. (12 U.S.C. 641.) March 4, 1923: The Agricultural Credits Act of 1923 authorizing the chartering of 12 Federal intermediate credit banks which make loans to and discounts for production credit associations, banks for cooperatives, State and national banks, agricultural credit corporations, livestock-loan companies and similar financing institutions. (12 U.S.C. 1151-1322.) July 2, 1926: An act authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to establish a division of cooperative marketing to disseminate to cooperative associations, economic, statistical, and historical information regarding cooperative associations in the U.S. and foreign countries. (7 U.S.C. 452-453.) March 27, 1933: Executive Order 6084 consolidated into one independent agency, the Farm Credit Administration, all Federal agencies and activities providing or supervising farm credit in the U.S. at that time.

(12 U.S.C. 1148.) May 12, 1933: Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933: An act authorizing the Land Bank Commissioner to make first and second mortgage loans to assist in the emergency refinancing of farm mortgage debts. (12 U.S.C. 1016.) June 16, 1933: The Farm Credit Act authorizing creation of 12 production credit corporations and the establishment of production credit associations and of 13 banks for cooperatives. (12 U.S.C. 1131-48.) January 31, 1934: An act creating the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation to supply funds for Land Bank Commissioner loans and to make loans to, and buy the bonds of, the 12 Federal Land Banks. (12 U.S.C. 1020.) June 30, 1945: An act <sup>and</sup> amended the Federal Farm Loan Act, the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of 1933, / the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation Act by enlarging the scope of such acts. This act, among other things, authorized the Federal Land Banks to make loans up to 65 percent of the normal value of farms mortgaged. (12 U.S.C. 712, 745, 751-753, 672, 771, 781, 857, 861, 874, 880, 1016, 1020b, 1020d.) July 12, 1946: Provided for repayment to the Secretary of the Treasury of excess subscriptions to the capital stock of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, such excess to be held until additional subscriptions to its capital are necessary. Further, the act provided that the Farm Credit Administration be authorized to make a study of ways and means of availability to farmers through the Federal Land Bank System of loans similar to those made by the Land Bank Commissioner through the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation. July 12, 1946: This act extended the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act, as amended, to July 1, 1947. (12 U.S.C. 1016, 1020b.)

August 11, 1916: The U.S. Warehouse Act, as amended, providing for the licensing by the Secretary of Agriculture of warehouses in which agricultural commodities are stored for shipment in interstate commerce. (7 U.S.C. 241-73.)

August 11, 1916: The U.S. Grain Standards Act, as amended, authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to investigate the handling, grading, and transportation of grain, and to promulgate standards of quality and condition for corn, wheat, rye, oats, barley, flaxseed, soybeans, and such other grains as in his judgment needed such action. (7 U.S.C. 71-87.)

August 11, 1916: The U. S. Cotton Futures Act laying a tax on each pound of cotton involved in any contract of sale of cotton for future delivery upon exchange, unless specified types of contracts are used. (26 U.S.C. 1090-1106.)

July 3, 1918: The Migratory Bird Treaty Act, prohibiting the hunting of migratory birds and their shipment except under regulations issued by the Secretary of Agriculture, and involving the provisions of a convention between the U. S. and Great Britain for the protection of migratory birds concluded August 16, 1916. This was followed by the Migratory Bird Conservation Act of February 18, 1929. (16 U.S.C. 715) as amended, establishing the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission, with the Secretary of Interior as Chairman, and Secretary of Agriculture, as a member, which may acquire lands recommended by him as necessary for the conservation of migratory birds. (16 U.S.C. 703-11.)

August 15, 1921: The Packers and Stockyards Act, regulating the business practices of packers in interstate commerce and of stockyard owners or operators, and the commission merchants and others operating at yards posted by the Secretary of Agriculture pursuant to the act, and prohibiting unreasonable, unfair, unjustly discriminatory, and deceptive practices and devices. (7 U.S.C. 182-229.)

November 9, 1921: The Federal Highway Act, as amended, authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to direct payments to the States by the Secretary of the Treasury on a specified basis for the construction of public highways. September 5, 1940: Authorized highway appropriation to be administered by Secretary of Agriculture and Federal Works Administrator; also provided for the survey, construction, reconstruction, and maintenance of development roads and trails within or adjacent to the National Forests and of forest roads of primary importance to the State or community. (23 U.S.C. 1-25.)

price spread between the producers and consumer may be narrowed, that dietary and nutritional standards may be improved, that new and wider markets for American agricultural products may be developed, both in the U. S. and in other countries, with a view to making it possible for the full production of American farms to be disposed of usefully, economically, profitably, and in an orderly manner. (7 USC 1621).

February 28, 1947: An act authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to co-operate with the Government of Mexico in the control and eradication of foot-and-mouth disease and rinderpest. (21 USC 114b, 114c, 114d.)

June 25, 1947: An act cited as Forest Pest Control Act, provided for the protection of forests against destructive insects and diseases. It authorized the Secretary of Agriculture to conduct surveys on forest lands to detect and appraise infestations of forest insect pests and tree diseases, and to take measures against such pests and diseases. The act supplemented existing legislation. (16 USC 594-1 et seq.)

July 31, 1947: Farm Labor Camp Disposal Act provided for the Secretary of Agriculture to dispose of farm labor camps to public or semipublic agencies or nonprofit associations of farmers. This authority was continued until June 30, 1949. May 31, 1949: Further extension made until June 30, 1950. (7 USC 1017 note).

August 8, 1947: The Sugar Act of 1948, reenacted the Sugar Act of 1937 with changes; extends the termination date from December 31, 1947 to December 31, 1952; and extends the sugar tax to July 1, 1953. Requires the Secretary to estimate each year the sugar requirements of consumers in the continental U. S., taking into account various factors so as to provide a supply of sugar that will be consumed at prices which will not be excessive to consumers and which will fairly and equitably maintain and protect the domestic sugar industry. Establishes fixed quotas for domestic areas totaling 4,268,000 short tons (domestic beet 1,800,000; mainland cane, 500,000; Hawaii, 1,052,000; Puerto Rico, 910,000; Virgin Islands, 6,000), a fixed quota of 952,000 short tons for the Republic of the Philippines, and allots to Cuba and full duty countries the balance of the estimate of consumption requirements, with 98.64 percent allotted to Cuba and 1.36 percent to full duty countries. Provides that any Philippine deficit is to be reallotted to Cuba (95 percent) and full duty countries (5 percent) and that any deficit of any domestic area or Cuba is to be prorated to the other domestic areas and Cuba which are able to supply such deficits. Guarantees for Cuba a minimum quota of 28.6 percent, which is equivalent to her share of the quota under the Sugar Act of 1937 at consumption levels at or above 6,682,670 short tons. Provides that, if the Cuban quota after reallotment of deficits would otherwise fall below 28.6 percent, the proration of the Philippine deficit to full duty countries would be 1.36 percent instead of 5 percent and that any further addition needed to maintain the 28.6 percent quota would be deducted prorata from domestic quotas. Continues provision for suspension of quotas by Presidential proclamation in event of emergency but provides that the direct consumption portion of the quotas shall not be subject to suspension unless the President specifically finds that an emergency exists which requires their suspension. Authorizes the Secretary to withhold or withdraw any quota increase for any foreign country over that provided for such country under the Sugar Act of 1937 if such country denies fair and equitable treatment to U. S. nationals. Continues the conditional payment provisions of the Sugar Act of 1937 with respect to marketing limitations for producers, employment of child labor, the payment of fair and reasonable wages to sugar beet and sugar cane workers, and the payment of fair prices for sugar beets and sugarcane purchased by processors who are also producers. Eliminates the farming practice condition for payment. (7 USC 1100 et seq.)

December 30, 1947: Joint resolution gave the President authority to make voluntary agreements and exercise certain controls to aid in curbing inflationary tendencies, to promote the orderly and equitable distribution of goods and facilities, and to aid in preventing maldistribution of goods and facilities which basically affect the cost of living or industrial production. By this act, the President was authorized to delegate such authority to any department, agency, or officer in the Executive Branch of the Government.

December 5, 1942: Executive Order 9280, centralized and delegated authority to the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to the reduction and distribution of food to meet war and essential civilian needs. December 30, 1947: Executive Order 9915 delegated the authority vested in the President by (50 App. USC 1911) to the Secretary of Agriculture. This Order supplemented and added to the authority of the Secretary granted by Executive Order 9280, and was supplemented by Executive Order 9919.

April 3, 1948: Foreign Assistance Act, provided for the furnishing of assistance to foreign countries; authorized the Secretary of Agriculture that whenever he determines that any quantity of any surplus agricultural commodity, acquired by the Commodity Credit Corporation in its price support program, is available for use in furnishing assistance to foreign countries, he shall so advise all departments, agencies, and establishments of the Government administering laws providing for the furnishing of such assistance or relief. (22 USC 1501 et seq.)

April 21, 1948: An Act transferring to the Secretary of Agriculture the Remount Service of the Quartermaster Corps, to be administered in such a manner as will best advance the livestock and agricultural interest of the United States. (7 USC 436, 437, 438)

June 15, 1948: An act provided for the protection of potato and tomato production from the golden nematode. (7 USC 150).

June 29, 1948: Commodity Credit Corporation Charter Act, provided a Federal charter for the CCC with capitalization set at 100 million dollars and borrowing authorization at 4 and 3/4 billion dollars. The Corporation authorized to support prices of agricultural commodities through loans, purchases, payments, and other operations; make available materials and facilities required in connection with the production and marketing of agricultural commodities; procure agricultural commodities for sale to other Government agencies, foreign governments, and domestic, foreign, or international relief or rehabilitation agencies and to meet domestic requirements; remove and dispose of or aid in the removal or disposition of surplus agricultural commodities; increase the domestic consumption of agricultural commodities by expanding or aiding in the expansion of domestic markets or by developing or aiding in the development of new and additional markets, marketing facilities, and uses for such commodities; export or cause to be exported, or aid in the development of foreign markets for agricultural commodities; carry out such other operations as the Congress may specifically authorize or provide for. All Federal Statutes applicable to the Delaware Corporation are applicable to the Corporation created by this act. (15 USC 714).

July 3, 1948: Agricultural Act of 1948: By Title 1 of the Act, the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized and directed through any instrumentality or agency within or under the direction of the Department of Agriculture, by loans, purchases, or other operations (a) to support prices of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, rice, and peanuts marketed before June 30, 1950; (b) and to support the prices of such commodities with respect to which the Secretary of Agriculture had requested an expansion of production. The act amended Section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, re-enacted by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, in order to maintain the effectiveness and force of this act and/or any other act dealing with a similar program or operation of the Department of Agriculture. (7 USC 1282 note).

June 10, 1949: Added "(September 30, 1950, in the case of Maryland and the cigar-leaf types of tobacco)". (7 USC 1282 note)

October 31, 1949: The Agricultural Act of 1949 deals with agricultural commodities in three groups: basic commodities, designated nonbasic commodities, and other nonbasic commodities. It becomes effective, with respect to price support operations, for crops the marketing year or season for which commences on or after January 1, 1950, except that the Secretary may elect to make its provisions effective earlier if such action will not reduce the level of price support on programs begun or announced. Provides that for the years 1950, 1951, 1952, and 1953 the parity prices for any basic agricultural commodity shall not be less than its parity price computed by existing formula. This results in the calculation of two parity prices for the next four years. for the basic commodities and requires the use of the higher of these two parity prices. It appears that the existing parity price applies to corn, cotton, wheat and peanuts, while the new parity price applies to tobacco and rice. Directs the Secretary to provide price support to certain designated non-basic agricultural commodities. Authorizes the Secretary to make available price support to producers for any other agricultural commodity at any level up to 90 percent of parity. Provides that the price support level for any agricultural commodity may exceed 90 percent of parity if the Secretary determines, after a public hearing, that the higher price support level is necessary to prevent or alleviate a shortage in agricultural commodities essential to national welfare or in order to increase or maintain the production of an agricultural commodity in the interest of national security. (Public Law 439 - 81st Congress.)
